

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

PREFACE.

THE following pages contain records of the oldest social College Club in Oxford—the “Phoenix Common Room” at Brasenose. No club could exist for a hundred years, and show itself flourishing at its centenary, without something sound and healthy in its principles and constitution; and the Editor believes that he need not apologize even for an imperfect attempt to put together, from the careful records of the Club, some account of the rules under which it has lived, and of the Members who have successively composed it. The biographical details of the latter part he has derived from other sources.* In this preface he will endeavour to sketch the foundation of the Society, and a few of the incidents of its career. It will be readily understood that a social club, in spite of its rapid changes of personnel and even habits, can have little of annals or history proper. Dinners and table-talk in 1786 and 1886 differ in kind about as much as human nature itself.

In the eighteenth century political clubs were common at both Universities, and Mr. Christopher Wordsworth has given many details respecting them in his “Social Life at the English Universities in the Eighteenth Century” (Camb., 1874). The “High Borlace” may, at first sight, seem to be a convivial society of some permanence; but it was in reality political, and met only once a year. The smaller "Poetical," "Nonsense," and other clubs, were quite ephemeral, and usually met at a coffee-house, being quite independent of any College. In fact, there is no parallel, it is believed—at least in Oxford—to the establishment and growth of the subject of this notice. Dining societies must have existed in plenty, but none has developed such lasting qualities as the Phoenix.

So far as the records extend, the founder of the Club was Joseph Alderson, who entered Brasenose in March, 1779, and whose name stands first in the earliest existing lists. The course of events seems to have been as follows:—At the close of 1781, or beginning of 1782, Alderson (then of nearly three years' standing), Hesketh, Pemberton, and Powell (all in their first year), formed themselves into a dining or social Club, perhaps named the "Phoenix Society." There was, even at this stage sufficient formality to allow of a distinction between Actual and Honorary Members, although there is no trace of rules; and the first recorded date is Oct. 10, 1782, when Alderson was "admitted Honorary Member." For nearly three years these four must have continued without further change, till, in Oct., 1784, Hesketh and Pemberton became Honorary Members, and Powell alone remained an Actual Member. Clearly, unless a succession was secured by co-optation, the Society would share the fate of its predecessors in the University, and cease to be anything but a curious subject for antiquarian research. Accordingly, in the October term of 1784, as it would seem, Rodd and Blencowe are admitted Members, both being in their first year. Powell's honorary membership is the only recorded event in 1785. We now come to 1786, the year in which the Club was, in all probability, really founded. In October of that year, it is practically certain that Terry, Crowther, Symonds, Heron, Bagshaw, and Mainwaring, were admitted Actual Members, all of them, except Bagshaw, being first year men. The number of Members, Actual and Honorary, now amount to twelve, all probably in residence ; and this is the exact number (though not the exact kind) prescribed in the code of rules which seems to have been now drawn up. It is this code which transforms the Phœnix Society, with its precarious existence, into the Phœnix Common Room (P. C. R.), or Junior Common Room of Brasenose, and which ensures a proper succession of Members ; from this moment, "uno avulso non deficit alter." The rules alluded to declare that for the future there shall be twelve Actual Members, undergraduates, and give precise directions for the conduct of elections. Now the first election, not admission, is that of Bennett ("vice Alderson"), who was eligible at Easter, 1787, and there is little doubt that he and the five next Members were elected in 1787, in which year Alderson was elected Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, and must have left the Club. There are other similar converging evidences to show that the constitution of the Club probably took shape in the October term of 1786 at latest : for instance, the first Secretary—who would probably not have been chosen from among Members likely to leave in less than a year—vacates his office in Nov., 1787. On the other hand, the date cannot be earlier than that term, because five out of the six last members "admitted" did not come into residence until 1786, and one of them not till June in that year. A consideration of all the details leads one almost irresistibly to the conclusion that the present Phœnix dates from 1786, and rightly celebrated its centenary in 1886.

With respect to the name* Phœnix, we have only probabilities to go upon. It was the opinion of the late Principal that the name indicated a revival of some earlier Club which may have been suppressed, and that the motto ("Uno avulso non deficit alter") was also a covert allusion to the suppression. What that earlier Club was, and, indeed, the truth of the whole matter, may be discovered some day from private correspondence. There is a tradition of no great weight that the earlier Club was fashioned after the model of the iniquitous society at Medmenham, pourtrayed in "Chrysal, or the Adventures of a Guinea," and that it bore the name of the "Hell-fire Club"; but though it is necessary to say thus much, and to allow that the manners of that time, and in particular the list of club toasts, make the supposition possible, it must be confessed that there is nothing* in the records to establish the point. Five of the first nine Members were elected to Fellowships within a few years, Frodsham Hodson, afterwards a Principal of the College, was a member in 1787, and Reginald Heber in 1801; nor is there anything in the rules, or, what is more important, in the fines actually inflicted, to indicate more than the sociability and enjoyment of the good things of life which a College Society might encourage without losing its self-respect. The motto alone would well suit any society which co-opts its members, but the name does clearly point to a crisis before or at the foundation of the Phœnix which caused it to be regarded as a renewal of something which had preceded.

* There is no doubt of the existence of a "Hell-fire Club" at Brasenose between about 1828 and 1834; but none of its doings deserve to be recorded. If it was in any sense an "offspring" of the Phœnix, as a contemporary member of the University affirms to the Editor in a letter, it was certainly very different in character. The printed story about a scene in Brasenose Lane and a sudden death in College ["Odds and Ends" (Lond.: 1872), p. 108; F. G. Lee's "Glimpses of the Supernatural," vol. ii. (Lond.: 1875), p. 207], seems to be a mixture of two events—the death of a woman who had been given brandy out of a Brasenose window, on Dec. 5, 1827, and the death of the President of the H. F. Club by delirium tremens in 1834, which closed the career of that society. Both events were entirely independent of the Phœnix Common Room and of its Members. The event in 1802, on which the "Whippiad" of Reginald Heber (Blackwood's Magazine, July, 1843, p. 100) was founded, is also not connected with any meeting of the Club, although Heber was an Actual Member, Port an Honorary Member, and Rawstorne a frequent guest, at that time.

The records of the Club—an account of which will be found in Appendix A—are singularly complete for this century, enabling us to picture each dinner, in whose rooms it was held, the Members present and their friends, and even the amount of wine drunk and the fines inflicted; but the latter are frequently entered on the blotting-paper with which the book was interleaved, and were accordingly easy to remove when it was not thought desirable to perpetuate the memory of them. In one case the blotting-paper received a picture of the Phoenix Common Room as it was furnished in 1805; nor are caricatures and personal remarks wanting. In 1811, for instance, a Member is sconced for being shaved in the Common Room; in 1822, the entrance of Harington (afterwards Principal) in “white Turkish trousers and flowered black velvet waistcoat” is especially noted with disapproval, and also that on a later meeting in the same year he appeared in “striped worsted stockings.” All kinds of odd facts turn up in these pages: in 1788, the papers supplied to the Common Room cost as much as 15s. a month; in 1792, the price of port is 22s. to 26s. a dozen (!), and of sherry 30s.; while in 1800, the port is 36s., sherry 42s., claret 60s., and madeira 72s., at a time when there were one hundred and seventy-five dozen in the P. C. R. cellars. A Club “bureau broken open and £30 19s. 6d. stolen” is chronicled; and, at a date so late as to be unmentionable, there is “Compensation to the ——— Club, owing to an attack made on it by Members of the P. C. R.”! But the annals of a social club can be readily imagined by any one acquainted with College life, and little need be added in this place except a few words descriptive of the constitution of the Society and its changes in the last hundred years.

The Society consisted at first of twelve Actual Members, who became Honorary Members when of sufficient standing to take their degree. New Members were co-opted by ballot, but no one was eligible in his first term of residence. The Members dined together every evening, each providing the Common Room in turn, and every Actual Member was required to be present at least once a fortnight, and could bring a stranger to every dinner. In addition to this, there was an Anniversary Dinner in the Act Term, usually at the King's Arms, at which all Members were required to be present, and also supplementary Club dinners and breakfasts. The present uniform of the Club was ordered in 1823. In about 1840, or earlier, the meetings were only held once a week, at first on Sundays, then, since 1842, on Tuesdays, as at present. Probably the full number of twelve Actual Members has not often been reached since about 1815. The plate has steadily increased in quantity and value by successive donations. The chief difficulties have been, as might perhaps have been guessed, financial; and Rule VI. 11, may be especially recommended as a "new way to pay old debts." Three times, at least, has the Club been in real danger. In 1821 there was a "violent opposition throughout College," probably due to the exclusiveness of the Society. In 1832 half the Society were sent down, so that only three Members remained in Oxford, and there was but one resident in College. No wonder that "the meetings were deferred for the present," and the indignant secretary notes: "It seems high time that the Phœnix should be transferred from a College in which the three best men are dismissed on mere suspicion." But the Phœnix was a fowl of sturdier breed than to be turned out of College, and held its ground through everything. Lastly, in 1842, feeling ran so high that Members resigned their place in the Society, and the Principal and Fellows threatened to suppress the Society if they continued to meet on Sundays. The Club soon regained a high position, and was patriotic enough in about 1845 to present the Phœnix Sculls to the College, to be annually competed for. In 1865 some inconvenient rules were imposed by the Governing Body, which were soon left in abeyance, and since then little or nothing has occurred to mar the harmonious relations of the P. C. R., both with the Fellows and with the rest of the College. The fluctuations of the Phœnix can, however, be readily seen reflected in the successive changes of rules, and to them, and to notes under different years, our readers are referred for fuller details.

At the present time the Phœnix is perhaps more stable and firmly grounded than ever before : and the success of the Centenary Dinner (see Appendix B) enables one to prophesy as long a career in the future as in the past. So long as the Phœnix is true to the best interests of the College, and of its Members, it will well deserve its prosperity and length of days.

II.
RULES AND REGULATIONS.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

I. MEMBERS.

1786?

1. The Society shall consist of 12 Actual Members, undergraduates ; who upon taking their degrees of A.B., or removing to other Colleges, or leaving the University, and paying Five Shillings to the fund of the Society, shall be admitted to the rank of Honorary Member.

1801.

2. (On Feb. 13, after "A.B.," the words "or becoming of standing for them" were added ; and after "of the Society," the words, "and Two Shillings and Sixpence to the Common Room man.")

1842.

3. (May 4.) Resolved, that Members having withdrawn from the P. C. R. in consequence of the unjust opposition of the Dons, and such withdrawal being considered prejudicial to the interests of the Club, future Members of the P. C. R. consider themselves pledged against resignation, and bound in every way to advance the welfare of the Club.

1860.

4. (Oct. 16.) Resolved, that the senior resident Member should be President, and that the management of the accounts and Secretaryship should be held by one of the other Members who, being most fit for that, is to be elected by vote.

1879.

5. (Oct. 12.) Resolved, that Members who had removed their names at B. N. C., and put them on Halls, should become Honorary Members, and pay their own share of wines, etc., at meetings of the P. C. R.

II. ELECTIONS.

1. In the case of a vacancy every new Member shall be elected by ballot by the Actual Members only; and no person can be elected without the unanimous consent of those Actual Members who may be present at the time of voting.

Later note, after 1801 :—"This Rule has been infringed in cases of great necessity, and by the unanimous consent of the voting Members."

2. No person can be proposed to the Society as a Member but by the Secretary, and the Members are to ballot for the person so proposed according to their seniority in the Society.

3. Every person is to observe the strictest secrecy with regard to his voting at elections.

4. When more than one Member is elected at the same time, the Members so elected are to rank according to their seniority in College.

See Business-Meetings, Rule 2.

5. At an election, upon the proposal of a person, he must be three times ballotted for, in case he is not sooner elected; and if he is not then elected, he cannot again be proposed at the same meeting.

Later note.—"This has been sometimes waived."

1801.

6. (On Feb. 13, in Rule 2, all after "Secretary" was struck out: and also Rules 3 (but see III. 9) and 4; and in Rule 5, all after "sooner elected."

1802.

7. (May 23.) (Vacancies probable after the Long Vacation shall [later "may"] be filled up before the preceding Anniversary Dinner.)

1821.

8. Jan. 26. It was this day resolved that in consequence of the great want of Members, arising from a violent opposition throughout College to the P. C. R., it is necessary to the interests of the Club that there be a temporary suspension of the rule which has hitherto been strictly observed, and that a man may be now eligible in his second term. But, as this measure appears, nevertheless, to be unconstitutional, and only justified by the extreme necessity of the times, it is hoped that there will be no occasion for it to continue long in force, and that future secretaries will not appeal to it, unless compelled by similar circumstances; the best security of the Phoenix being generally an uniform adherence to its ancient and established rules. [Rescinded May 30, 1821.]

9. (Nov. 18.) (The resolution of Jan. 26, 1821, was re-enacted "as a temporary measure," adding) that the two short terms between Easter and the Long Vacation are to be reckoned as one. It is to be hoped that soon the Club will be enabled to return to the standing order on the subject of elections, as it is only suspended from there being such a great scarcity of desirable men in the College.)

[This resolution was rescinded on Feb. 1, 1824.]

1824.

10. (June 12.) As considerable inconvenience has arisen from the want of clearness in the law or custom of elections, with regard to the standing at which persons are to be considered eligible to the P. C. R., it is hereby enacted that all candidates must have resided at least two terms, provided that those persons who commence their residence in Easter term shall reckon the Easter and Act terms as one.

1831?

(The Secretary states that no instance is recorded of a Member elected in his first term, and strongly advises the retention of the old rule.)

1850.

11. (Dec. 10.) (A Member of the Club is expelled, "for a series of acts totally incompatible with the character which he, as a Member of the P. C. R., was bound to uphold, and calculated to damage very seriously the reputation of the Club, unless very strong measures be taken.")

1881.

12. (Jan. 26.) (Vacant places in the Club are not to be filled up for the present.)

III. BUSINESS MEETINGS.

1786?

1. No person whatever can be present at the meetings of the Society to transact business, except the Actual Members and the Secretary for the time being, and the strictest secrecy is to be observed as to what passes at each meeting.

2. Every proposition must be carried or negatived by a majority of voices, except at the election of Members, when unanimity is required.

3. No person has a right to attend at any meeting, or to vote on any proposition, except the Actual Members and the Secretary, who, if he is Actual, has the casting voice on all occasions where the numbers are equal; but if the Secretary is an Honorary Member, though he is present at all the meetings, he has only a right of giving the casting vote when the numbers are equal.

4. The Secretary shall have the power of calling a meeting whenever he shall judge it expedient.

5. No person can be allowed to give his vote or opinion by proxy.

1793.

6. Tuesday, Feb. 12. It was unanimously agreed that whenever it was necessary for the Society to have a meeting, a public breakfast should be given at the Secretary's rooms, at the expense of the Society; and that every Member absenting himself without sufficient cause shall pay his share of the breakfast, the same as if he had been present.

Later note.—This regulation was dropped in a few years.

1801.

7. (On Feb. 13, in Rule 4, after "meeting," the words "of the whole Society, both Actual and Honorary," were added; and in Rule 3, all after "and the Secretary" was struck out, and a new Rule made: "The Secretary shall have the casting voice upon all occasions, besides his vote as an Actual Member, if he be one.")

8. Feb. 13. Every Member neglecting to attend a meeting when summoned shall be fined the value of a bottle of port.

9. The strictest secrecy is to be observed with regard to what passes at any meeting.

1831.

10. (May 16.) Resolved, that the weekly meetings of the Members of the P. C. R. be in future held immediately after dinner on Sundays, and that every Member not attending before seven o'clock be fined at the discretion of the Club.

IV. ANNIVERSARY DINNERS.

1. The Anniversary of the Society shall be held at the King's Arms, always upon some day in Act Term, at which all the Honorary and Actual Members of the Society resident in or near the University are expected to attend, timely notice being given by the Secretary of the day and hour of dining fixed upon; at which meeting no stranger can possibly be admitted.

2. At the Anniversary Dinner, the two seniors of the Actual Members resident shall be the President and Vice-President, and shall have the management of the Dinner.

1801.

3. Feb. 13. (In Rule 1, the words "at the King's Arms" were struck out.)

4. Feb. 13. Besides the Anniversary two other Dinners shall be held annually—the one in Michaelmas, the other in Lent Term, at which all the Actual and Honorary Members resident in the University are expected to attend, timely notice of the day, etc., being given by the Secretary.

Note slightly later.—These two dinners have since been repealed.

5. Feb. 13. At the Lent and Michaelmas meetings no other wine than port and sherry shall be allowed, and the dinners shall not exceed 7s. 6d. per head, which, together with a sum sufficient to defray the expense of fruit, waiters, etc., shall be collected previous to the day of dining.

6. Feb. 13. At all the Dinners, the two seniors of the Actual Members resident shall be the President and Vice-President, and shall have the management of the Dinners.

7. Feb. 13. Any resident Actual Member absenting himself from any of these Dinners, and any resident Honorary Member absenting himself from the Anniversary Meeting, shall forfeit his quota of the dinner and wine, unless his excuse for non-attendance be judged sufficient by a majority.

8. Feb. 13. At the Lent and Michaelmas Dinners no stranger can be admitted.

1802.

9. (June 2.) (Members absent from the Anniversary Dinner, without "most cogent reasons," are to be struck off the books of the Society.)

10. (June 2.) Resolved, that the Anniversary Dinner be held regularly on the Wednesday in the fourth week of May.

1831.

11. (Nov. 4.) Resolved, that two extra Anniversary Dinners of the P. C. R. be held upon some day in the Michaelmas and Hilary terms, at which every resident Member shall be expected to attend, unless prevented by most cogent reasons, timely notice being given by the Secretary of the day and place fixed upon. At these extra Dinners any Member may introduce a friend, paying only for two shares of the wine drank, provided that he give notice to that effect to the President at least three days before; and any Member absenting himself without giving such notice shall be liable to his share of the expenses.

1844.

12. (Feb. 14.) Resolved, that the custom of giving an Annual Dinner be revived, and that the Members of the P. C. R. do dine at the Mitre Inn, on Wednesday, the 28th day of this month, at six o'clock, and that each Member be allowed to invite two strangers.

1853.

13. (Jan. 19.) Resolved, that the custom of giving an Annual Dinner be revived, and that the Members of the P. C. R. do dine at the Cross Inn, on Wednesday, Feb. 1, at six o'clock, and that each Member be allowed to invite two friends.

1867.

14. (June 10.) Resolved, that at the Annual Dinner the custom of drinking wine with one another should be instituted, since it promotes festivity, and generally conduces to the harmony of the evening.

1871.

15. (June 26.) The P. C. R. held a Dinner in London, at the Albion Tavern, on this day, at which it was unanimously.

resolved that there should be an Annual Dinner of the P. C. R. in London, and that the day fixed should always be the second day of the University [Cricket] Match. It was also resolved that the resident Secretary in Oxford and an old Member of the Club in London, elected at the preceding Dinner, should have the entire management of the Dinner.

V. DINNERS, DRESS, ETC.

1. Every Member is allowed to bring any number of strangers to the Common Room, paying their shares of the wine drunk himself.

Note.—It is expected that every person, whether stranger or Member, Actual or Honorary, shall, upon his joining the party at the Common Room every day, at whatsoever time it may be, drink two glasses of wine, one of them to the toast of, "Prosperity to the Phoenix Society"; and every person who shall have complied with this custom, which the President of the day, though he has the power to waive it, is expected to see observed, shall then be at full liberty to drink exactly what quantity of wine he chooses, and at what time and in what manner is most agreeable to himself. The healths of every Actual and Honorary Member being included in the before-mentioned toast, it is irregular and inadmissible to drink the health separately of any individual (by whomever given) in the Common Room, who either does at the present time or ever has belonged to the Phoenix Society, or Junior Common Room.

Later note.—The number of Common Room toasts has been increased, and the custom of not toasting any man who is or has been a Member of the Society has been long disused.

2. The President for the day shall always be that Actual Member who has brought the greatest number of strangers; and in case two or more Actual Members shall have brought an equal number of strangers, the senior of those Members shall be the President.

3. No Honorary Member can be President while an Actual Member is present; but in case no Actual Member is present, the Honorary Members are to follow the same rules as the Actual Members.

4. Upon every occasion the junior Actual Member is to take upon himself all the trouble, such as calling for and opening the wine, etc., etc.

5. The Common Room shall begin upon the first Sunday in every term to be held at the rooms of the senior Actual Member, and shall be continued regularly afterwards at the rooms of the Actual Members resident, according to seniority in the Society.

6. No person shall upon any account be allowed to let the Common Room pass his turn, except in case of sickness [re-enacted in Jan. 31, 1805; the Vice-Principal's æger-list is not to be regarded as sufficient proof of sickness], and no person shall be allowed to transfer it to another person's room without the consent of that person, and without taking that person's day in exchange.

7. Tuesday, Feb. 12. It was unanimously agreed that every Actual Member who did not attend the Common Room at least once in the course of a fortnight, should be fined the value of one bottle of port wine.

1801.

8. Feb. 13. Every Member shall be allowed to bring one stranger to the Common Room, paying himself for two shares of the wine drunk.

9. Feb. 13. No person shall be permitted to send a stranger to the Common Room when he does not attend himself; and every Member transgressing this regulation shall pay for two shares of the wine drunk, the same as if he had been present.

10. Feb. 13. The President for the day shall always be the senior Actual Member who has a stranger.

11. Feb. 13. The President shall have the power of giving the following bumper toasts, before which it is inadmissible to give any toast or sentiment whatever. Common Room Toasts—"Our Old Friend," "The King," "The Phœnix," "The Absent Members," "The Secretary."

12. Feb. 13. The majority of Members present shall have the power of sponging any person for improper behaviour, the President having the casting vote.

13. Feb. 13. With the above exceptions every person shall be at full liberty to drink what quantity of wine he chooses; but it must be understood that this regulation does not authorize any person to pass the bottle without having drunk what he before filled.

14. Feb. 13. (In Rule 4, after "occasion," the words "except when he is President" were added.)

15. Feb. 13. It was resolved that the custom which prevailed of expecting a public breakfast from every new elected Member should in future be discontinued.

16. Oct. 25. It was resolved that the practice of giving public breakfasts should be revived, and commence with the senior Member who had not given one.

Note.—In pursuance of this resolution, eight elegant entertainments were given, in the course of the Michaelmas term, 1801, by the eight junior Members of the Society.

1802.

17. (Jan. 24.) It was unanimously agreed that the public breakfasts should be henceforth abolished, it being conceived that the expense attending them was by no means counterbalanced by the enjoyment they afforded.

18. (June 2.) The division of the evening shall take place at seven o'clock instead of at prayer-time.

19. (Mich. T.) Resolved, that there shall be no division of the evening, but that any Member who attends the Common Room any part of an evening shall pay his quota for the whole of that evening.

20. (Feb. 12.) Resolved, that no resident Member of the P. C. R. shall himself appear at the Phœnix Common Room undressed, or bring a resident stranger undressed . . . (except in the case of Members who are reading for their Degrees ; otherwise to be "sconced" the value of half-a-dozen bottles of port wine).

21. (Oct. 23.) (No Honorary Member shall pay for his dinner ; and resident Honorary Members only for their share of wine.)

1821.

22. (May 30.) (Fines for not passing, or changing, the toasts.)

1822.

23. (March 7.) Resolved, that dressing should be confined to Sunday and Concert nights ; and if on common nights a Member wished to bring a stranger, he should, of course, dress as usual, and tell Sawyer to give notice to the other Members. This rule, however, contrary to the ancient and established custom, was made in consequence of the things being laid out every night without ever being used ; turning the man out of his room without benefit to the Members, who, on that account, went to wine wherever they could get a glass. This however, it is to be hoped, will bring them more together, and give them an opportunity of seeing each other some nights besides Sunday.

1823.

24. (Oct. 27.) Resolved, that the Members of the P. C. R. should each wear a claret-coloured coat with a velvet collar, and buttons of a pattern to be determined by the Secretary. Also a white kerseymere waistcoat, with buttons of the same pattern as those of the coat. It is understood that this uniform should be worn on all those occasions on which the Members meet dressed.

1836.

25. (Feb. 1.) (The Secretary is always to be President at the Dinners, and the senior Actual Member Vice-President for the day.)

26. (Feb. 10.). (Rule 9 to be modified, but only so far as to allow a Member to "leave his stranger in the Common Room during the hours of Chapel only.")

27. (Feb. 10.) Resolved, that in consequence of the many and arduous duties which devolve on the Secretary, there be granted to him the privilege of bringing a second stranger to the Common Room, which stranger shall be entertained at the joint expense of the Club.

28. (Feb. 10.) Resolved, that owing to the confusion which has arisen from a misunderstanding as to whether any Member is licensed to introduce a stranger in undress after Chapel, hereafter no such license shall be permitted but to the Secretary alone, or any Member having the Secretary's leave to do so; it being at the same time suggested that the Secretary should not avail himself of this privilege more frequently than necessary on dress nights, as the introduction of strangers in undress at such a time cannot but be somewhat injurious to the Club's welfare.

29. (Mar. 15.) (Every Member allowed to bring two Members to dinner "during the scarcity of eligible men in the College," each paying for his own strangers.)

30. (June 29.) Resolved, that strangers be allowed to come to the Phœnix in morning [this provision was rescinded on Nov. 23] or evening dress, without white ties.

1841.

31. (March 17.) Resolved, that the time of attending Sunday times [sic, dinners?] be not later than six o'clock (with fine for lateness).

32. (Nov. 30.) Resolved, that no Member be allowed to ask any one who has withdrawn from the Club to the P. C. R., under penalty of not less than half-a-dozen of wine [in connexion with Rule VI. 29].

33. (Feb. 3.) Resolved, that the P. C. R. do in future meet on Tuesday instead of Sunday evening, on account of the violent opposition of the Principal and Fellows to the Sunday meeting, and their threats to expel the Members of the P. C. R., unless their day be changed. Resolved, that all other existing Rules remain in force.

1844.

34. (Nov. 6.) Resolved, that the first of the five toasts usually given, being a remnant of heathenism, be from henceforth discontinued, and that for the future the toasts stand as follows:—1, "The Queen"; 2, "The Phoenix"; 3, "The Absent Members"; 4, "The Secretary."

1857.

35. (Oct. 28.) Resolved that, owing to the prosperous state of the P. C. R., the number of strangers should be limited to one to each Member; but that the resolution of Feb. 10, 1836 [No. 27, above] should still be retained.

36. (Oct. 28.) Resolved, that no Member should be absent from the weekly meeting of the P. C. R., unless on account of some urgent reason, which reason is to be determined [?] by the Secretary.

37. (June 29.) Resolved, that for the future the toasts should stand as follows: 1, "The Queen"; 2, "The Phoenix"; 3, "The Absent Members"; 4, "The Guests"; 5, "The Secretary."

1865.

38. (June 20.) (The Vice-Principal communicated five College orders to the Club, restricting entertainments after nine p.m., requiring the names of the Members of the Club every year, etc. On Feb. 13, 1867, the rule which restricted entertainments was appealed against.)

1879.

39. (Oct. 12.) Resolved, that the P. C. R. should meet on the first Tuesday in the term, instead of the second.

1881.

40. (Jan. 26.) Resolved, that the fine for not bringing a guest should be not less than two bottles.

1882.

41. (Oct.) Owing to the Hall [dinner] being at seven o'clock, the College granted permission for a separate dinner for the P. C. R. at six o'clock, in Hall.

VI. WINE, PLATE, AND COMMON ROOM MAN.

1788—91.

1. Resolved, that each Actual Member (in case the Common Room man is regular and constant in his attendance) pay him every term the sum of two shillings and sixpence.

1789—91.

2. Resolved, that the Common Room wine shall not, on any pretence whatever, be allowed to be drunk, nor the Common Room decanters, glasses, knives, etc., etc., be used out of the Common Room.

1793.

3. (Tuesday, Feb. 26.) It was unanimously agreed that (in addition to the sum of 2s. 6d. paid every term by each Actual Member to the Common Room man, which is to be paid whether the Member is resident or not), the sum of 2s. 6d. be paid him by every Member at his election into the Society, and the like sum upon his being admitted to the rank of Honorary Member.

4. Sunday, June 9. Every Member, at the end of each term, shall pay, together with his other accounts, the sum due from him to the Common Room man into the hands of the Secretary, who shall pay the same regularly to him at the end of each term. And in case there shall happen to be any vacancies for the space of one or more terms, the sum of 2s. 6d. shall be paid out of the funds of the Society to the Common Room man at the end of every term for each vacancy that shall so happen.

5. Sunday, Dec. 7. It was unanimously resolved that it should be allowable for all Members, whether Actual or Honorary, to have wine from the Common Room cellar to their own rooms, paying for it at the rate of 27s. per dozen, or 2s. 3d. per bottle*; provided that payment is always punctually made for it, together with the Member's other account, upon the Saturday following....(In case of non-payment, no more wine is to be sent out, and the debts for such wine are to be subject to the same penalties as the other accounts.)

1795.

6. Sunday, Apr. 26. It was unanimously resolved that, to avoid giving the Common Room man any unnecessary trouble, no wine should be allowed to be removed from the Common Room cellar to any Member's room, whether Actual or Honorary, after evening prayers, unless that room be the Common Room for the day. And it shall not be allowable for any Member to return any wine into the Common Room cellar again, after having once had it brought to his rooms.

7. Sunday, Nov. 22. It was unanimously resolved that no more than two dozen of port and six bottles of sherry shall be allowed to be taken from the Common Room cellar to the rooms of any Member, whether Actual or Honorary, in the space of one week, beginning always on the Sunday morning.

* A note slightly later alters the above to port wine, and adds, "and sherry at the rate of 36s. per dozen, or 3s. per bottle."

8. Nov. 22. It was unanimously resolved that all debts for wine thus had from the Common Room cellar shall positively be discharged on or before the following Saturday, upon pain of incurring the following penalties: For any quantity of wine not exceeding six bottles, the sum of 5s....; above six, but not exceeding twelve bottles, the sum of 10s.; and so on in proportion...(after a week's debt for such penalties, half-a-guinea in addition is to be paid for not more than six bottles, one guinea for not more than twelve, and so on).

9. Sunday, Dec. 10. It was unanimously resolved that it should be allowable for any Member whatsoever to have any quantity of wine to his own rooms from the Common Room cellar; but that the said wine should be always regularly and punctually paid for before the wine is removed.

10. Dec. 10. It was unanimously resolved that the fines for debts contracted on wine drunk in the Common Room should remain as they were, and be rigidly enforced, if rendered necessary by the neglect of any Member, which it was earnestly hoped would not be the case.

11. Dec. 10. It was unanimously resolved that it should be allowable for the Society, if any Member whatsoever should have quitted College, refusing or neglecting, after proper notice, to discharge his arrears, to transfer the said debt from the books of the Society (in whatsoever manner it may have been contracted, whether by fines, penalties, or otherwise) to those of the wine merchant, if he should be willing to accept of the same as part payment from the Society. And it was determined that from the time that such transfer had been made, every such debt should be considered as due from the Member in question, not to the Society but to the wine merchant, if he should be willing to accept of the same.

12. Sunday, Dec. 10. It being thought advisable to augment the salary of the Common Room man, it was unanimously resolved that the sum of 2s. 6d., in addition to his other salary* and perquisites, should be paid to him by every Actual Member and by every resident Honorary Member every Christmas, by way of a Christmas gift....(The Common Room man may claim his usual 30s. a term from the Secretary, but not the Christmas gift unless the Member has already paid the 2s. 6d. to the Secretary. For the purposes of the Christmas gift Honorary Members are to be called resident if they have resided in College for any considerable portion of the Michaelmas or Lent term, or of the Christmas Vacation.) And it was determined that every Member should pay the sum of 2s. 6d. to the Common Room man for attendance during the term in which he has been elected, at whatever time in the said term he may have been elected; and the like sum for attendance during the term in which he becomes Honorary, whether a new Member is elected in his place during that term or not, besides all the other before-mentioned perquisites.

Later note.—It was afterwards thought advisable that...every part of the salary and dues of the Common Room man...should be regularly paid to him by the Secretary, out of the fund of the Society, whether such gifts, dues, etc., etc., had been punctually and actually paid or not by each individual Member.

13. (Feb. 13.) The Common Room decanters, glasses, knives, etc., shall not be used out of the Common Room.

14. (Nov. 22.) Resolved, that a subscription be opened amongst the Members of the P. C. R., to defray the expense of drawing and engraving the portrait of Thos. Reynolds—Common Room man—under the superintendence of Rowland Egerton and Benjamin Penny.

1802.

15. (Jan. 24.) Resolved, at the same time, that a present of five guineas be given by the Secretary out of the fund of the Society to T. Reynolds, in consideration of his regularity, honesty, and attachment to the interests of the P. C. R.

* Note.—In the secretaryship of J. Hordern [1816—17], the salary was fixed for the Common Room man at £20.

16. (Jan. 31.) It was unanimously agreed that the sum of one guinea be paid by each subscribing Member towards defraying the expense of the engraving of T. Reynolds. (And that the Common Room fund bear any further expense necessary in the matter, and that every future Member pay half-a-guinea [Nov. 22, 1807, "18s. 6d."] for an impression of the plate.)

1803.

17. (Lent T.) (Common Room man to keep a boy who shall attend Common Room in an evening, and to receive, therefore, 5s. per term from every Actual Member, and 2s. 6d. from resident Honorary Members. Christmas fee taken away, but the profits from sale of Reynolds's portrait, etc., may, if necessary, be added to his salary.)

1804.

18. (Act T.) Six silver tablespoons shall be procured for the use of the Common Room, to be paid for by a subscription of the 12 Actual Members.

19. (June 10.) (Mr. Chalie to be the only wine merchant employed [a later note allows discretionary powers] : a pipe of port wine to be ordered from him.)

1805.

20. (Nov. 10.) Resolved, that Sir James Gardiner's present of a pipe of port wine be accepted by the Society. Resolved also, that one pipe of port wine shall be put into the cellar of Sir James Gardiner, on his becoming Honorary Member of the Society, and not sooner ; and that the Secretary send the same to Roche Court, in Hampshire. Resolved also, that a subscription be entered into by such of the Actual and Honorary Members as are willing, to defray the expenses of a silver Cup, to be presented to Sir James W. S. Gardiner. Also that this subscription be limited to three guineas each ; that Messrs. Rundell and Bridge be employed for this purpose; and further, that the present be accompanied with a note testifying the grateful sense which the Members entertain of Sir James Gardiner's exertions and zeal for the welfare of the P. C. R. Society. It was this day also resolved that in future no presents be received from any Members of this Society previous to the time of their leaving College.

21. (Nov. 7.) Resolved, that from the inferiority of the P. C. R. wine, John Barnes and Son should in future be the wine merchants employed, and that the present stock should be disposed of to the best advantage; which was put in execution, and half a pipe ready for immediate drinking ordered.

1816.

22. (May 15.) (Common Room man's salary fixed at £20 a year.)

1818.

23. (April 5.) Resolved, from the inferiority of the wine, that Mr. Latimer should no longer be employed in the wine way by the Phoenix Common Room.

24. (June 1.) ("Common Room man's salary raised, and the washing" raised, by Members paying 11s. 6d. per term, the terms being four in number. £2 2s. paid to Tom, to defray the expense of his late illness.)

25. (Oct. 24.) In consequence of the age of Tom Reynolds, Sawyer was this day elected to assist him during his lifetime, and after his death to succeed to the place. (On the 27th, it was resolved that Tom should still have £20, and Sawyer, for the present, £10. The former retired before June 13, 1819.)

1819.

25.* (Dec. 3.) (Thanks of the Society given to Buckley "for the handsome present of the inkstand which appears on the table.")

1824.

26. (June 3.) Resolved, that the Secretary be requested to convey the thanks of the P. C. R. to Mainwaring, for his very handsome present to the Club of three silver bottle stands.

1825.

27. (Feb. 27.) (Similar thanks to John W. Knightley, Esq., for his "handsome present of a silver snuff-box.")

1839.

27.* (Feb.) (Mr. Monck gave £20 to the P. C. R., with which to buy plate.)

1841.

28. (March 17.) (Interest allowed on Messrs. Lavell's and Clowes' account of £150 till it is paid.)

29. (Nov. 30.) Resolved, that Mr. J. T. Somers Cocks' picture of Reynolds be removed from his possession, in consequence of his having withdrawn his name from the Club.*

1853.

30. (April 13.) (Thanks given to John Gott, Esq., and George Mallory, Esq., "for their handsome present of a silver punch-bowl.")

1857.

31. (May 28.) (Thanks to William McGregor Dawn, Esq., "for his handsome present of a dozen cut wine-glasses.")

32. (Jan. 28.) (Thanks given to J. Codrington and T. B. Shaw-Hellier, Esqrs., "for their handsome present of two dozen finger-glasses.")

1858.

33. (Nov. 5.) (Thanks given to W. I. Allgood, Esq., "for his handsome present of a dozen silver dessert knives.")

34. (Nov. 26.) (Thanks given to T. B. Shaw-Hellier and George Gordon Haigh, Esqrs., "for their handsome present of a silver cigar lighter.")

* He withdrew "on account of the restriction to attendance on Sunday evenings."

1861.

35. (Oct. 21.) (Thanks given to — Gumbleton and — Dunn, Esqrs., "for their present of two dozen wine-glasses.")

1867.

36. (Feb. 3.) (Thanks given to W. H. Dunn, Esq., "for his handsome present of two dessert dishes, to complete the set.")

1879.

37. (Jan.) (Thanks given to T. C. Edwards-Moss, Esq., "for the handsome cigarette box he had presented.")

1874.

38. (Jan. 28.) (Thanks given to W. Law, Esq., and E. P. Rawnsley, Esq., "for their handsome present of two pairs of silver nutcrackers.")

1881.

39. (Oct. 17.) (Thanks given to E. H. Hulse, Esq., "for his very handsome present of a spirit case.")

1882.

40. (Jan. 24.) Joseph Hill elected Common Room man, in place of Harry Charwood, deceased.

1883.

41. (Oct. 30.) (Thanks given to John W. Low, Esq. "for his handsome present of a liqueur decanter and twelve silver cups.")

VII. SUBSCRIPTIONS AND COMMON ROOM.

See I, 1.

1788.

1. Thursday, Apr. 17. Resolved by the Members of the Phoenix Society, that a subscription of 5s. be paid by each Member into the hands of the Secretary, to defray the expenses of the papers.

1788—89.

2. Resolved, that the papers be taken to Mr. Symonds's rooms, and that every Member have the liberty of going into that room [sic] for the purpose of reading the papers.

1789—91.

3. Resolved, that the magazines, pamphlets, papers, etc., etc., be in future discontinued.

4. Resolved, that any Member who has a stranger with him may look upon the room where the Society meets that day as a Common Room until tea-time.

1791.

5. June 27. Resolved, that the arrears of the Society be collected by the Common Room man every Saturday; and it is requested that every Member of this Society will regularly pay up his arrears, as being conducive to the welfare and regularity of the said Society.

1792.

6. Tuesday, March 13. It was agreed, nemine contradicente, that the accounts of the Secretary be audited and reported of, by the Society at large or a Committee appointed by them, once every term.

1793.

7. Sunday, June 9. It was unanimously agreed that every Member of this Society shall always pay the entire sum that he stands indebted to the Society at the end of each term to the Secretary, under the penalty of one half the sum then due to the Society being added to his account. And in case any Member shall ever neglect for more than one term together to pay up his arrears, it was unanimously agreed that at the end of each term an additional half of the sum then due to the Society shall continue to be added to the account of the Member thus neglecting, until he shall discharge the same.

8. June 9. It was unanimously agreed that the before-mentioned regulation, respecting payments, is to extend as well to the Actual Members of the Society as to those who may hereafter be admitted to the rank of Honorary Member.

9. June 9. It was unanimously agreed that the before-mentioned regulation..... (should not lessen the force of Rule 5).

10. Tuesday, May 6. It was agreed that the part of the ...[7th] regulation...which regards the penalty to be inflicted in case of non-observance, should be altered in the following manner:—For every sum not exceeding 20s., left unpaid at the end of Michaelmas, Lent, or Easter Terms, a fine of 5s. shall be added to the account...: for every sum exceeding 20s., but not exceeding 30s., left unpaid at the end of Michaelmas, Lent, or Easter Terms, a fine of 7s. 6d. shall be added to the account...: and so on, in proportion to the amount of the debt. It was, however, resolved that the penalty which regards the debts left unpaid at the end of the Act Term, should continue the same as was appointed by the [5th] regulation...It was likewise resolved that no Member shall incur the above-mentioned penalties at the end of the Michaelmas, Lent, or Easter Terms, who shall continue to reside in College from one term to another...It was likewise resolved that no Member shall incur any of the above-mentioned penalties above once for the same sum...It was likewise resolved that all these regulations should extend as well to the present Actual Members as to those who may hereafter be admitted to the rank of Honorary Members; and those who have been admitted that rank since the regulation of... June 9th, 1793, are no longer to be bound by the penalties thereby inflicted, but are to be subject to the...new regulations...

1797.

11. Sunday, Dec. 10. It was unanimously resolved that the sum of three guineas,* as Caution money, should be collected from every Actual Member, and every resident Honorary Member, to be returned whenever any Member shall discharge all arrears, and shall declare himself to be no longer a resident Member of the University. It was likewise resolved that this sum should be paid by every Member whatsoever before the end of the term, and in future by every new Member within one week after his election.

* “This sum was increased at a meeting in May, 1799, to five guineas. It is to be understood that no Caution money whatever is, upon any occasion, to be returned to any Member, unless earnestly demanded, which it is hoped never will be the case.”

12. (Revision of 11, Feb. 13.) Every Member, upon his election, shall deposit in the hands of the Secretary the sum of five guineas, as Caution money, which sum shall be returned to him whenever he shall have discharged all arrears, and shall declare himself to be no longer a resident Member of the University.

Later note.—This Rule was passed Dec. 10, 1797. The original sum was £3 3s., which was soon after increased to £5 5s. Uniform custom has established this deposit as a gift to the P. C. R. fund, which was at first intended as a temporary loan. Of forty Members who have contributed Caution money, two only have re-demanded it. And as these were Honorary Members at the time of the first institution, and quitted College very soon after, succeeding Members have not looked upon them as affording any precedent applicable to themselves. This regulation has been of the first importance to the P. C. R.

Dec. 6, 1801, R. Egerton.

13. (Feb. 13.) Every Member, both Actual and Honorary, shall discharge the whole of his arrears to the Society at the end of the Michaelmas, Lent, and Act Terms, before he leaves College; and those Members who continue to reside in College from one term to another, before the conclusion of the Vacation, under a penalty...

1802.

14. (Jan. 31.) (No Member's account is to exceed £10, otherwise such Member is not to "attend the Room" till one half is paid.)

1804.

15. (June 10.) (Special additional subscription of £5 to be paid this year by every Actual Member.)

1809.

16. (May 7.) Entrance fee for Membership and Honorary Membership increased from 5s. to One Guinea.)

1810.

17. (Feb. 7.) (Wax lights to be used in Common Room.)

1822.

18. (Oct. 14.) ("It being represented that near £600 were due to the P. C. R. by various Members, and that the funds were in consequence very low," resolved, that no wine be allowed from the cellar to Members in arrear.)

1831.

19. (Nov. 4.) (A stringent rule was passed about the payment of all arrears.)

1849.

20. (Nov. 20.) (A similar stringent rule passed.)

1861.

21. (Oct. 21.) (A similar stringent rule passed.)

22. (Oct. 21.) Resolved, that all new Members must pay their entrance fee on the day of election.

1866.

23. (March 14.) A printed circular to be sent to old Members who owe money to the Club; the entrance fee, "which had been reduced from £6 6s. to £5 8s.," is restored to six guineas; the annual subscription is made two guineas.

24. (May 30.) (Thanks given to C. E. Harris, Esq., for his "handsome present" of £20 "to aid in defraying the debts of the Club.")

25. (Nov. 27.) Resolved, that no Member be allowed to attend a meeting of the P. C. R. who owes £10 to the Club.

1867.

26. (Feb. 13.) Resolved, that for the future the Club cigars should not be brought into the Card Room after wine, as the great amount which are then smoked prove a serious expense to the Club (47 having been smoked on the last occasion), but that each Member should provide himself and guest with such cigars as they may need.

27. (June 10.) (Legal steps to be taken to recover debts from old Members.)

1872.

28. (Oct.) (Entrance fee raised from six to seven guineas, and the annual subscription from two to three, "owing to the reduced circumstances of the Club," and "till the Club be out of debt." An offer towards cancelling the existing debt was made, and refused; the same offer, on Nov. 18, 1873, was accepted.)

1883.

29. (April.) Resolved, that the accounts should be made up on a different system, viz.: that the full costs of each meeting should be divided among the Members of the Club present at that meeting—this seeming fairer to those Members who had to bring an extra number of guests, to supply deficiencies caused by absentees. ("The accounts are now made up terminally by the Secretary, and not, as formerly, by the Common Room man.")

VIII. MISCELLANEA.

1. All persons transgressing the "above" regulations shall submit to whatever punishment the Society shall choose to appoint.

See V., 7.

1867.

2. (Feb. 6) This book having been lost for the last five years, during the secretaryships of Messrs. Heap, Illingworth, and Garnett; resolved, that the Secretary should enter all existing rules which had been made during the secretaryships of the aforesaid gentlemen.

R., presented the College with the 'Phoenix Sculls,' which were to be competed for by all or any members of the College annually. The winner held the Sculls for a year, and in commemoration of his victory he was presented with a silver medal, bearing some inscription. . . . To the best of my belief the names of the donors of the Sculls were engraven on them."

APPENDIX B.

THE CENTENARY DINNER.

The Centenary Dinner was held on Tuesday, June 29, 1886, at 8 p.m., in the Hall of Brasenose College. The Committee for arrangements were the Rev. Canon Reynolds Hole (Chairman at the Dinner, now Dean of Rochester); T. C. Edwards-Moss, M.P.; W. J. Barry, Esq. (Secr. of the P. C. R. at the time); Hon. R. O'Neill, M.P.; S. E. Illingworth, Esq.; and W. W. Whitmore. The last-named was the centre and life of the whole scheme, and grudged no time or labour to bring about a successful result.

Some fifty members*, past and present, assembled in the College Hall, and, after the Dinner, which itself needs no description, the following toasts were proposed and speeches made:—

The Queen, by the Chairman (Canon Hole).

The Phoenix, by the Chairman, acknowledged by the Hon. R. O'Neill and Col. Shaw Hellier.

Absent Members, by the Earl of Mar and Kellie.

The Guests, by F. Crowder, Esq.; acknowledged by the Principal (the Rev. A. Watson), and F. Madan, Esq., the only two present who were not Members of the Phoenix.

* Marked by an asterisk in the Index.

The Secretary and Present Members, by M. J. Taylor, Esq., the Senior Member in the Hall ; acknowledged by W. J. Barry, Esq.

Mr. W. W. Whitmore, by E. P. Rawnsley.

The Chairman, by W. W. Whitmore, Esq.

Mr. Taylor, by E. L. Fellowes, Esq.

This completed the toasts and speeches, and after some time spent in Phœnician fashion, the company separated, most of those present having rooms assigned to them in the College.
